CONTEXT

The improvement of education, beginning with early education, is the key to inclusion and a successful life for disadvantaged persons in the long term. The importance of quality, inclusive and intercultural Early Childhood Education and Care (ECEC) is strongly related to the issue of fostering the social and work inclusion of disadvantaged children and their families.

This project intends to contribute to the development of ECEC and improve the social inclusion of disadvantaged children, mostly from different ethnic backgrounds. Access to quality ECEC services plays a crucial role in the healthy development of necessary skills for achieving good learning outcomes and success at work, and in reducing social inequalities and preventing Early School Leaving.

The transnational approach shares project outcomes at the European level, thanks to the Open Educational Resources available through the online platform, and includes a Double Degree by the Higher Education Institutions involved in the project.
